

What is English Equitation, Reining Seat Equitation, and Western Horsemanship?

In equitation and horsemanship classes, riders are judged on their seat, hands, legs, and their ability to control and show their horse. The horse is not judged. All horses entered in the class will proceed at least once around the ring at each gait – walk, jog/trot and lope/canter – and on command will reverse and repeat. Following the rail work, the class will line up and perform individual patterns at the judge's discretion. These patterns may include: rein back, figure 8 at a trot, demonstrating change of diagonals, figure 8 at a canter with a simple lead change through trot, extended trot or medium trot, turn on the haunches, change of leads on a straight line down the center line with a simple change, or counter canter.
